

ARREST BROOKLYN PITCHER FOR SCALPING

A Newspaper Covering the Entire Northeast
Section of Vermont State
Every Working Day.

THE CALEDONIAN-RECORD

LATEST EDITION

The Weather
Fair tonight and Sunday. Warmer tonight in Northern Vermont. Variable winds.

VOL. V—NUMBER 30

ST. JOHNSBURY, VERMONT, SATURDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1920

PRICE TWO CENTS

ORDER WILL BE RESTORED IN IRELAND

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT O. E. S. MEETING AT ORLEANS

Intervale Chapter No. 61, Takes Up Important Business—Fine Banquet

The Intervale Chapter, No. 61, O. E. S., with deputies extended a cordial invitation to the Grand Officers and members of Chapters in District No. 7 and all visiting members to attend the annual District meeting held at the Maonic Hall in Orleans, Thursday afternoon and evening, Oct. 7.

The points of honor were Mrs. Adelle F. Allen of Milton, Grand Matron, Harry D. McGillis of Maunfield, Grand Patron, Mrs. Kate L. Howe of Burlington, Grand Lecturer, Mrs. McCulloch, Grand Representative to Montana, Mrs. Clara Green, St. Albans, Grand Warden and other Grand Officers were present.

At 2:30 p. m., the Session of Instruction was conducted by Mrs. Kate L. Howe assisted by officers from the different chapters.

At 6 o'clock a very nice banquet was served by the ladies of the Methodist church. About 300 tickets were sold.

In the evening the opening ceremonies were conducted by the Intervale Chapter No. 61 and the reception to the grand officers. An address of welcome was given by Arthur O. Austin to which F. W. Cutting of Barton gave the response. The Past Grand Patron Orient Chapter No. 12.

(Continued on page five)

STATE TAX MAY BE OMITTED NEXT YEAR

Nearly $2,000,000 Surplus
May Save Added Taxation
If Budget Is Low

MONTEPELIER, Oct. 9.—According to figures taken from the book of the treasurer and auditor, the State of Vermont is likely to have a surplus of nearly two million dollars at the end of the present calendar year. According to conservative estimates, this will make a state tax unnecessary next year if the legislature keeps within the present budget. This condition apparently results from close figuring and strict economy on the part of the various departments and the board of control, from a large increase in state revenues and from the state tax of 40 cents, which is evidently about 20 cents larger than was necessary to meet the extraordinary expenses of the war.

The following statement shows the financial condition of the State, July 1, 1920, and what is expected in the way of revenues and expenses:

Cash on hand, July 1	$1,285,122.86
Estimated revenues to Dec. 31, exclusive of state tax	2,100,000.00
State tax (40 cts.)	1,126,738.60
	$5,191,818.36
Estimated expenses to Dec. 31	2,700,000.00
Balance	$2,491,818.36

(Continued on Page Four)

"RUBE" MARQUARD ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF SCALPING CLEVELAND

CLEVELAND, Oct. 9.—Baseball pride, smoldering in the hearts of Cleveland fans through 42 years of championship aspirations, flared into fury of excitement today for the fourth game of the World's Series. Since 1876, when Cleveland first went into organized baseball, it had to be content with standing by and watching its major league rivals carry off the championship of the National game. Other cities have been accustomed to a world's series and this is Cleveland's first and even this has been forgotten save one and that is baseball.

Although Brooklyn has the edge of one game, the Indians battled on their own reservation today for the first time during the series. Stanley Coveleskie, the miner from the anthracite region of Pennsylvania, who pitched Cleveland to victory in the first game, was expected to be Manager Speaker's selection, while "Big Jeff" Pfeffer was regarded as Manager Robinson's probable choice. Both Coveleskie and Pfeffer are right-handers.

The sun rose on League Park today with Edward Fox of Proctor, Vt., holding first place in a line of several hundred persons awaiting the sale of 9,000 general admission tickets. He took up his station in front of the ticket window at 2:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He came all the way from Seattle to see the game. The fourth person in line was a woman, Miss Julia Kelley of Bridgeport, Conn. She and her escort said they were friends of Steve O'Neill, the catching "ace" of the Cleveland club.

The forecast was for fair weather, clear and cool. The betting odds of today's game was as follows:

	BROOKLYN	CLEVELAND
Jamieson, P.	J. Johnson, 2b	Wambach, 2b
Speckard, cf	Griffith, 1b	Smith, 1b
Gardner, 3b	Wheat, 1b	Gardner, 3b
W. Johnson, 1b	Konetchy, 1b	Swallow, 1b
O'Neill, 2b	Kilham, 2b	O'Neill, 2b
Coveleskie, p	Pfeffer, p	Coveleskie, p

BOSTON POLICEMAN INDICTED FOR ASSAULT ON WOMAN

BOSTON, Oct. 9.—The Suffolk County Grand Jury indicted today four policemen, three on charges of breaking and entering and another for assault on a woman. Fred H. Webster, John A. Lahorne and Ernest R. Martin were alleged to have entered stores on their beat from which the theft of cloth, clothing and auto accessories were reported. Harvey Yates, a negro member of the force was charged with assault on a woman neighbor.

ARTGRAVURE SECTION SATURDAY, OCT. 16

Our announcement of an Art-gravure section with handsome souvenir pictures of Candidates Harding and Coolidge of the Republican National ticket was fully premature. It will be a feature of our edition Saturday, October 16, instead of today as previously announced. Order your paper for Saturday, Oct. 16 so as to be sure and get this special supplement.

WOMEN'S SUITS

and Coats Dry Cleaned and Sanitary Steam Pressed. Garments finished in 24 hours. Send by Parcel Post if you live out of town.

C. E. BROWN

109 E. Ave., St. Johnsbury, Vt.

C. H. DEMPSEY NEW STATE SUPT. EDUCATION

State Board Recommends Teachers College at Burlington to Cost $300,000

CLARENCE H. DEMPSEY of Milton, Mass., who was superintendent of the St. Johnsbury public schools from 1899 to 1908, has been unanimously elected commissioner of education to succeed Dr. M. B. Hillekas at a salary of $9000 and will begin his work in Vermont Nov. 15. Mr. Dempsey was born in Washington Mills, N. Y., December 4, 1871. He was married in St. Johnsbury in 1902 to Suzanne Ella Goddard (Wellesley, 1884) and their two children, now 11 and 14 years of age were born in St. Johnsbury.

He is a graduate of Boston University and studied at Munich and Berlin after completing his college course. Since he left St. Johnsbury he has been superintendent of schools in Revere, Haverhill and Milton in Massachusetts.

The State Board of Education also announced that they had unanimously decided to select Burlington as the site of the new Teachers' college; that the college would be affiliated with the University of Vermont and cost $300,000.

MAKE EFFORT TO STABILIZE MILK PRICES

Special Committee of N. E.
Milk Producers Investigate Rating Plan

Efforts to stabilize the dairy industry so that farmers will receive a more even income throughout the year from the sale of milk are being made by the New England Milk Producers' Association. A special committee is considering ways of stimulating farmers to produce more milk in winter when it is scarce, thus tending to equalize the supply and stabilize the price. This stimulation is to be given through the adoption of a rating plan.

Under the present conditions milk dealers in the cities have had to go

(Continued on Page Four)

SHANE LESLIE ON FUNERAL OF EMPRESS EUGENIE

Brilliant Description of the Event with Historical Sidelights

The funeral of the Empress Eugenie of France was vividly written by Shane Leslie for the London Times and will be read by his many St. Johnsbury friends with much interest. Mr. Leslie has been a frequent visitor to St. Johnsbury with his wife, who is a daughter of Gov. Henry C. Lee, and during the war gave an address to the enlisted soldiers at a farewell banquet tendered them by the Commercial Club. For the past 18 months Mr. and Mrs. Leslie have been abroad. The article follows:

"The remains of the late Empress Eugenie were conveyed on Thursday evening, July 15, from Madrid to Paris on route for England. Royal honours were accorded at the Northern Station at Madrid by a special train of King Alfonso, and a company of soldiers sounded the 'Last Post' as the train moved out of the station. In the French capital a gathering of more than 2,000 persons assembled at the Gare d'Austerlitz to do homage to the Empress' memory, and for three hours men and women of every social grade filed past the carriage in which the coffin rested. On Sunday morning the body was received at Southampton from Havre and was conveyed by special train to Farnborough.

Farnborough is the Benedictine Abbey amid the trees crowning the height of the downs where the dynasty of the Napoleons finds mortal end. Shrouds of marble entomb the imperious dead, who, for one and forty years were twin, but now are three and three forever. On June 27, 1870, Cardinal Manning wrote to Disraeli: 'There will be a funeral service for the Prince Imperial on Monday, in the Cathedral at Kensington. If any of your Lordship's friends should desire to be present I should be happy to send tickets of admission.' Two Sovereigns have since occupied the English throne, and two Cardinals have come to Westminster. And three Emperors are now with the Third Empire. The pathos of the imperial ball, blue, sown with golden bees and wrought with eagles, which covered the coffin of Eugenie, last Empress of France, was not the pathos of loneliness for the Empress is reunited and all of Europe's eagles have fallen. And the unhappy Empress, no longer unhappy, no longer haunts the three

(Continued from page 2)

Lloyd George Calls Senn Feiners Murderers---Home Rule Would Mean Conscription In Ireland

(By the Associated Press)

CARNIVON, Wales, Oct. 9.—Premier Lloyd-George in a speech here today said that the police in Ireland did not bomb houses and shoot men without provocation. Of 238 policemen shot, 109 were killed and the patience of the police had given away with the result that they hit back, the Premier declared. Mr. Lloyd-George said that if, as was contended, there was war in Ireland, then the war must be waged on both sides. But when the police were shot in the back by Sinn Feiners, it was not war, but murder, he added. He asked whether under the present system of terrorism which made it impossible to obtain evidence, it was any wonder the police shot the murderers.

Mr. Lloyd-George continued: 'We must, however, restore order in Ireland, even by stern methods, he asserted, "because we cannot permit the country to fall into anarchy." The Premier said he could not understand and sympathize with the idea that self-government should be given because it would bring good will, but not because "a gang of assassins had bullied the government into it." "It is all very well," he continued "to talk about a dominion form of government but Ireland demanded an absolute independent republic and even that would not satisfy the Irish as Ulster could not have a republic."

"We do not want to negotiate peace with civil war at our very door," the Premier continued. The Premier said that if Ireland was given a complete dominion home rule it would mean she would have conscription and then England with her army of 100,000 might be confronted with an Irish army of half a million men.

The two addresses were followed by a social hour and a general good time.

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)

(Continued on page 2)